COURSE DESCRIPTION

The Foundations of Facilitation Intensive focuses on a set of fundamental tools for facilitating any skills-based adult learning program. Participants learn empirically-validated strategies for accelerating adult learning, honing performance assessment and reflective practice, and engaging seasoned clinicians. Foundations of Facilitation workshop leaders have created an engaging, enjoyable and rejuvenating experience — not just a course.

WHY SHOULD I ATTEND?

Reports of professional burnout in healthcare continue to increase as caregivers feel building pressure to do more with less time. As such, a number of caregivers are not making the time to schedule continuing education programs. When they do attend, many don't benefit from the program because the information was ineffectively delivered. Foundations for Facilitation will empower you to execute programs that increase the likelihood of positive change.

“I feel my understanding and approaches to medical education have been greatly elevated and enriched”

EDUCATIONAL METHODS

To maximize retention of material and allow for immediate implementation, learner-centered and relationship-centered principles will be employed. Specific methods include interactive didactics, video review, deliberate skills practice with self-reflection and helpful peer/ faculty feedback, as well as action methods including improv and sociodrama.

Course is $2,000.
